

LET'S

TALK!

Snohomish Health District
cordially invites you to have a short conversation about lead in our community.

SNOHOMISH HEALTH DISTRICT

Lead is a toxic metal that was once commonly used in paint, gasoline, pipes, and other areas. Unfortunately lead sticks around for a very long time in the environment and is very harmful to young children. There is no safe level of lead.

Please join us in our public health efforts to help guide our work in reducing childhood lead poisoning.

Parents and caregivers: We would love to hear from you. Please contact us by email at childcarehealth@snohd.org or by phone at (425) 252-5415 to schedule a convenient time to speak with our team. Appointments will take 10 minutes or less and can be completed by phone or virtually.

Snohomish Health District and our community appreciates your time and effort.
