

Signature of Person Completing Form:

CHILD CARE HEALTH OUTREACH PROGRAM

Date:

3020 Rucker Avenue, Suite 202 Everett, WA 98201-3900 425.252.5415 shd.childcarehealth@co.snohomish.wa.us

Toy Safety Checklist

Toy sare generally put away and organized Clear pathways for children to move Play areas are free from tipping hazards Child areas free from glass, nails, loose staples, and other hazards Toy chests do not pose a risk of suffocation or injury Tall bookcases and other furnitive secured to well Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A system for rotting toys is in place Children help clean up Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A system for rotting toys is in place Children help clean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily, others weekly) Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily, others weekly) Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½ wide and 2½ long, balls smaller than 1½ diameter) Toys after the control of the control	Item to be Evaluated	N/A	☑ if concern	Instructions for correction	☑ if corrected
Clear pathways for children to move   Play areas are free from tripping hazards   Child areas free from tripping hazards   Toy chests do not pose a risk of suffocation or injury   Toy sheets do not pose a risk of suffocation or injury   Toy sheets are labeled with pictures/words   A system for rotating toys is in place   Children help clean up   Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/todder delity) others weekly)   Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach   Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/todder delity) others weekly)   Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach   Toy safety   Toys in infant/todder areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 11½" diameter)   Toy safety   Toy sa
Play areas are free from tripping hazards Child areas free from tripping hazards Toy chests do not pose a risk of suffocation or injury Tall bookcases and other furniture secured to wall Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A system for rotating toys is in place Children help clean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily; others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy safety Toy in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11½ wide and 2½ "long, balls smaller than 11½" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from spilners Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Placifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on Infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child care in in mixed-age settings are kept developed to younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are rounted types from younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are enoticed Staff-child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
Child areas free from glass, nails, loses staples, and other hazards Toy chests do not pose a risk of suffocation or injury Tall bookcases and other furniture secured to wall Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A syslem for rotating toys is in place Children help dean up Toys are washed, ninsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily, others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 1½" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely, broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmels when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Children are properly supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for ident children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Staff-child ratios are maintained at all times Illiny forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Clear pathways for children to move
Toy shelves and other furniture secured to wall Tall bookcases and other furniture secured to wall Tall bookcases and other furniture secured to wall Tall bookcases and other furniture secured to wall Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A system for rotating toys is in place Children help dean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily, others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 1½" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely, broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor cimbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts near helimets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Children are properly supervision Toys and equipment Supervision Toys and equipment Supervision Toys and equipment supervision Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are recompleted and injury logs are kept Tall bookcases and other furniture secured to wall Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A system for rotating toys is in place Children help clean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily; others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 1½" diameter)  Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage rottinely; broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phinalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No torys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are seacered lightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Children vear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Children vear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Children are properly supervised uring play Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words A system for rotating toys is in place Children help clean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily; others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety Toy in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 1½" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from spiniters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Super infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are amaintained at litimes Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
A system for rotating toys is in place Children help clean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily, others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 1½" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Placifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Staffichild ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
Children help clean up Toys are washed, rinsed, and sarifized regularly (infant/toddler daily; others weekly) Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety  Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11/4" wide and 21/4" long, balls smaller than 19/4" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys or older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Sold region in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Sold region in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Sold region in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children are properly supervised during play Children are normal todders are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in in times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Toy shelves are labeled with pictures/words
Toys are washed, rinsed, and sanitized regularly (infant/toddler daily; others weekly)  Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety  Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 1½" wide and 2½" long, balls smaller than 1½" diameter)  Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries)  Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed  Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Pacifiers are in good condition  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6": 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Sins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervision  Children are properly supervision  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are ataught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staffichild ratios are maintained at all itimes  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	A system for rotating toys is in place
daily; others weekly)  Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach  Toy Safety  Toys in infan/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11/4" wide and 21/4" long, balls smaller than 11/4" diameter)  Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries)  Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed  Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Pacifiers are in good condition  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Childran wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are a taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Stafft-child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Children help clean up
Toys sin infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11/4" vide and 21/4" long, balls smaller than 11/4" diameter)  Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries)  Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed  Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Stafft.child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11/4" wide and 21/4" long, balls smaller than 11/4" diameter)  Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries)  Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed  Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Pacifiers are in good condition  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child bevelopment/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Schildren are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are ataught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Stafft.child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Plastic bags and plastic wrap stored out of reach
Toys in infant/toddler areas do not present a choking hazard (toys less than 11/4" wide and 21/4" long, balls smaller than 11/4" diameter)  Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries)  Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed  Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Pacifiers are in good condition  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child bevelopment/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Schildren are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are ataught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Stafft.child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	F. O.C.
less than 11/4" wide and 21/4" long, balls smaller than 13/4" diameter) Other choking hazards are not present (styrofoam cups, gum, latex balloons, coins, batteries) Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child bevelopment/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are properly supervised during play Children are taught the proper use for toys Rules for proper use of play items are enforced Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept			1
balloons, coins, batteries)  Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed  Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters  Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA  Pacifiers are in good condition  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff.child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	less than 1¼" wide and 2¼" long, balls smaller than 1¾" diameter)
Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are taught the proper use for toys Rules for proper use of play items are enforced Staff.child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA Pacifiers are in good condition Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236) No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are taught the proper use for toys Rules for proper use of play items are enforced Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Toys are checked for damage routinely; broken toys removed
Pacifiers are in good condition  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6°; 12° for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Wooden toys are sealed and free from splinters
Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)  No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are eas maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Plastic toys are free from phthalates and BPA
No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys  No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets  Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Pacifiers are in good condition
No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are taught the proper use for toys Rules for proper use of play items are enforced Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic (ASTM D-4236)
Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection  Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	No strings or cords on infant toys longer than 6"; 12" for toddler toys
Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly  Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic  Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	No toys which make loud noises or high powered magnets
Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys, skates, scooters) Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are taught the proper use for toys Rules for proper use of play items are enforced Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Indoor climbers have ASTM approved fall protection
Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in Children are properly supervised during play Children are taught the proper use for toys Rules for proper use of play items are enforced Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Battery cases for electronic toys are secured tightly skates, scooters)  Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Arts and crafts materials are non-toxic
Child care is aware of product recalls and older toys are checked  Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Children wear helmets when using wheeled toys (bikes, riding toys,
Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home  Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	,
Child Development/Supervision  Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	,
Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Child care has clear guidelines regarding toys from home
Toys and equipment provide age-appropriate challenges  Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	Child Dayslonment/Supervision
Toys for older children in mixed-age settings are kept away from younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept			1 1 younger children  Bins of toys for infants and toddlers are routinely checked to make sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept sure no older children's toys are mixed in  Children are properly supervised during play  Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept	younger children
Children are taught the proper use for toys  Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff: child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
Rules for proper use of play items are enforced  Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times  Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
Staff: child ratios are maintained at all times Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept Injury forms are completed and injury logs are kept
	Staff:child ratios are maintained at all times
Emergency phone numbers posted
	Emergency phone numbers posted				